“Forgiveness is hard. The Christian family is made up of imperfect people who often say and do the wrong things. Yet, the Bible says to forgive each other “as God in Christ forgave you.” When we forgive, we are recognizing that God forgives us, and that we are united with God and with each other only because of God’s grace. Forgiveness is what all believers have in common, and it connects the members of the church together in unity so that God may work in marvelous ways through His people. In the culture we live in, self-gratification and pride are valued above all else. A forgiving and sacrificial church is completely unique to the world and displays the glory of God for all to see. Instead of strife and bitterness marking the people of God, the church is defined by grace and mercy.” Sydney Davis
