"Do you sometimes struggle when you are taking communion to know what you should be thinking about? ... in the Passover, God emphasizes key aspects concerning the death of His Son, Jesus (pictured of course through the killing of the spotless lamb.) Now, we would do well to focus our attention on the things God focuses on, would we not? ... some (not all) of the things God wanted emphasized when He gave the Passover ... it is a whole new beginning! Behold new things have come! It is worth pondering on your new position in Christ. ... it is personal. We are all responsible for Him going to the cross and yet we are all loved individually so much that He would have gone to the cross for any one of us. Worth thinking about! ... He was totally without sin, yet was judged by the fire of God for our sin. ... believing in the Lord Jesus is the beginning of a journey! So we should always be asking the Lord for His direction and obedient to respond to what we hear. ... peace and rest ... came through the blood alone. This should be a cause of thanksgiving and worship and should make the cross of Jesus be for us what God intended it to be – a lasting celebration that we never get tired of!" jesusplusnothing.org
